GREAT CROWD AT THE

Chicago, Dec. 4.—This was a banner day at the International Livestock exposition, 70,000 people passing through the turnstile. In the Dexter Park amphitheatre the crowd was so dense tonight that a police reserve was sent into the ring to prevent a crush and to lend assistance in case of emergency. No accident occurred, however, and the cheers of the multitude of spectators were deafening as the prize winners composing the evening's parade passed along the exhibition space. The judging of sheep carcasses at the packing house was one of the attractive features of the day, a large crowd gathering to witness the selection of the winners.

Washington, Dec. 4 .- The Japanese Washington, Dec. 4.—The Japanese minister called at the state department in haste today to communicate to Secretary Hay a cablegram he had received from the minister for foreign affairs at Tokio, dated today, stating that while Mr. Buck, the United States minister to Japan, was on a hunting trip this morning he was taken suddenly ill and expired.

The service of the deceased minister covered a critical and important chapter of Japanese history.

covered a critical and important chapter of Japanese history.

The state department will take the necessary steps to see that Mr. Buck's remains are brought to this country for interment if his family so desires. Hunting Wilson, the secretary of legation, was designated as charge.

At the close of the official day a cablegram was received at the state department from Mr. Ferguson, second secretary of the American legation at Tokio, saying that it was his painful duty to announce the death of Minister Buck, who died today, but making no explanation of the conditions.

It is expected that the remains of the dead minister, who was a veteran of the civil war, will be brought to Washington for interment at Arlington, where the minister selected a burial site for himself when he was in the United States about two years ago. Mrs. Buck is understood to be in Tokio, and the state department will address a proper message of condolence to her.

Will Receive Special Attention. "I think that a room in the central portion of the city which would easily be accessible to all would be the most desirable place for a school for the unfortunates. They could all be sent to the school and would receive more careful and individual attention than with crowds of other children. Better results would consequently be obtained. Special attention should be directed, I think, to efforts to cultivate among these children a liking for the manual training which is now in the schools.

"Teach them some trade, if possible, and, at the same time, incidentally cultivate their minds to as great an extent as possible. In this way, they could be as possible. In this way they could be developed to the best advantage and, in view of the unfortunate fact that comparative small hope can be enter-tained of great mental development, they can be instructed in the manual training at the same time."
